Newsletter No.1 September 2012

Hi Everyone:

We hope you've had a great summer.

It has been a busy one here at Cohen and Hacker Architects. We finally have our second house in Evanston, Illinois (our home town) under construction on a beautiful lakefront site. We've also just completed a seamless addition to a landmarked Tallmadge and Watson Prairie Style house from 1910, also in Evanston, and are about to start construction on an addition and whole house remodeling project for a white brick 1920s Colonial in Highland Park, Illinois.

It has been a record year for publications of our residential architectural work. Two of our projects were included in a new coffee table book:

Contemporary Renovations & Additions. Edited by Gary Takle from Think Publishing.

Forthcoming, to be published this fall, we are included in a book on Seaside, Florida, also in, 100 Classical Architects for the 21st Century from Rizzoli, and a book to be published by the Architectural League of New York on 30 years of their "Emerging Voices" lecture series which we were included in a number of years ago.

Our magazine publication have included:

Kitchen TRENDS vol.28 No.2: <http://trendsideas.com/Article16111/UnitedStates>

Renovation Style for Summer 2012: Cover

And a project of ours will be in the Dec/Jan issue of Old House Journal.

Stuart continues to write about architectural history. An article, adapted from his forthcoming book on the houses of Howard Van Doren Shaw, was featured in the fall issue of Chicago Architect magazine <http://mydigimag.rrd.com/publication/?i=123871> His book Great House of Chicago: 1871-1921, coauthored with Susan Benjamin, (Acanthus Press, 2009) is now back in print and available at bookstores, through Amazon, or directly from Acanthus Press. www.acanthuspress.com

Last April, Stuart and Julie spoke on trends in kitchen design at the Kitchen & Bath Industry Show (KBIS) at Chicago's McCormick Place. Both Stuart and Julie have been invited to speak at Residential Architect magazine's Reinvention Conference, October 17-19, 2012 in Chicago, and a house they designed in Lake Forest, Illinois will be on the house tour that is a part of the conference.

As a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects, Julie continues to formally mentor young architects just starting out in their own practices. Stuart is currently editing and helping to write, Evanston: 150 years, 150 Places a book on Evanston's architecture to be published by Design Evanston, a not for profit organization, in celebration of the 150 year anniversary of the founding of that community. Garry Shumaker, senior architect at Cohen & Hacker and an Evanston resident, is now the Chair of the Evanston, Illinois Preservation Commission. Steve Liska, also a senior architect, passed the final section of the licensing exam and is now a registered architect.
